Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Applicant was asked on June 6, 2007 to submit claim amendments for the interview. Applicant's request for an interview stated "I will contact you tomorrow as to the amendments." Applicant was contact on June 7, 2007 for the claim amendments. Applicant declined to submit claim amendments. At the beginning of the interview on June 13, 2007, Applicant was asked again for any appropriate claim amendments. Applicant had not prepared any amendments in time for the interview. Applicant attempted to argue the Win reference failed to teach setting cookies to a zero value. Applicant was asked to explain the difference between Win and the claimed invention. Applicant was unable to explain a difference between Win and the claimed invention beyond "setting the cookies to a zero value." Applicant was informed that "setting cookies to a zero value" had many interpretations, including expiring the cookies as in both Win and the specification for the instant application. Applicant parted from the topics of the agenda to argue Win failed to teach setting a cookie to a past expiration time. Applicant was unable to explain how a cookie could both have a zero value - be valueless - and have a value for a past expiration time. Applicant was informed that to overcome the Win reference substantial claim amendments would have to be made. At the end of the interview and after being previously asked for claim amendments three times to be considered during the interview, Applicant offered to prepare a claim amendment and have it reviewed before the six month deadline. Applicant was not granted a further interview to review Applicant's amendments before submission to the Office .
